FEDERAL ELECTION
COMMISSION
REPORTS ANALYSIS
DIVISION

Mr. Christopher Ritchie
Federal Election Commission
Washington, D.C.

Dear Chris:

I am writing as a second follow-up to my phone conversation with you on April 4, 2007, concerning the fact that there are three reports which have not been filed and are therefore late for the committee Friends of Margaret Workman. Since I spoke with you, I have tried to get the reports filed electronically. I have retained John Pritt, a computer specialist to try to figure out how to use the FEC software. I have also contacted the W. Va. State Democratic Committee to see who files their federal reports. They have not called me back. Today, I also contacted Jennifer Pittman for assistance, and she forwarded me to your electronic technical help division. I left a voicemail asking that they contact me in order that I could have assistance in changing the committee address, but have not heard back from them as of yet.

In short, I am trying to get the reports filed. In the meantime, please accept this letter as a good faith attempt to report. This letter will advise that for each of the reporting periods for which reports have not yet been filed, the committee expended $9.00 per month as a fee charged by the bank in order to continue to maintain the account. There were no receipts and no other expenditures. In addition, until I can get assistance on figuring out how to officially change our committee address, will you please also send a copy of any correspondence or notices to the address on the letterhead above.

We will continued on a daily basis to try to find someone who can assist me with the electronic filing. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Margaret L. Workman
